HALFAYA PASS, Egyptian-Libyan Frontier, June 23.—Axis transport columns moving eastward from Libya toward the Egyptian border in the vicinity of Fort Capuzzo were hammered today by British field guns.

The British middle east command said in a communiqué that Axis activity in the frontier area was "slight."

British mobile forces it was added, were active south of Trigh and Capuzzo.

Move Into Position
Fire of the British guns blasted against German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces as they moved into position along the frontier in apparent preparation for a large-scale attack which is expected within a few days.

Lines are beginning to form daily at the post office window where the $5 auto use stamps are being sold. The new stamps are required on autos on July 1.

Thursday night will probably be the greatest "stay at home" night in New Castle and Lawrence County's history. It is the time for the first practice blackout and most residents will stay at home and watch their own premises.

OVER THE TOP FOR VICTORY with UNITED STATES WAR BONDS-STAMPS

All telephone users in Lawrence County should heed the warning for Thursday night not to use the phone for any purpose but emergencies. This is the regulation in case of blackouts. Do not phone in case of emergencies during the blackout unless it is absolutely necessary.

Rubber collection drive is still in progress. If you have delayed making your contribution to this scrap rubber drive for aid of the war effort, get busy at once.

Anytime, strangers must think New Castle is a seacoast city—sailors everywhere! It almost seems so.

To Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Ridenbaugh, of North Mercer street, goes the honor of bringing in the first hellgramite of the season, indicated.

Plans For Blackout Test Here Complete

Plans for the practice blackout on Thursday night June 25 have been completed by the Lawrence County of Defense, Lt. Col. W. Fulton Jackson, executive director announced today. Every effort has been made to acquaint the people with the rules of the blackout and it is hoped that every citizen will co-operate in carrying them out.

"This is only a practice blackout," said Col. Jackson, "and because it is the first we will probably encounter some difficulties. It should be remembered however that it is not impossible that genuine blackout may be necessary before the war is over and our people should learn the technique now."

Dimout All Night
From 8:30 Thursday night until 5:30 Friday morning, all lighting must be dimmed. During the total blackout which will last half an hour, there must be no light showing from homes or buildings. Prepare one room on your home which you can use during the total blackout period. Cover the windows with blankets or black paper but be sure that not a pencil of light shows from the outside.

For the dimout period, your lights should be dimmed. Do not use (Continued On Page Two)

Many Sirens Will Be Used In County Blackout Test

Every available siren will be brought into use Thursday night when the signal for the total blackout is given. When the order to blackout is given, the sirens will blow for two minutes with sharp blasts. The all clear signal will be long blasts at the end of the thirty minute period.

In New Castle a large siren will be installed on a building, possibly the Cathedral. Fire sirens will also blow. In Ellwood City the fire sirens and the whistles of the National Tube and the Matthews Gravity company will sound. In Wampum the fire siren and the whistles of the Medusa Portland Cement Co. will be used.

Hillsville and vicinity will be warned by the sirens of the Carbon (Continued On Page Two)

President And Churchill Plan For War Moves

Fateful Decisions Being Made In Conference Between Heads Of Nations

STATEMENT SAYS TALKS HARMONIOUS

Crisis On Several Fronts Of War Zones Is Under Consideration At Washington

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)
By KINGSBURY SMITH
WASHINGTON, June 23.—President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill today tackled the critical shipping problem, calling to the White House ranking American and British shipping and navy experts. This conference, it was announced, was convened to discuss "the subject of ship building and ship use."

By KINGSBURY SMITH

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Determined to bring the "maximum concentration of allied war power upon the enemy" at the earliest possible moment, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill today were believed to be making fateful decisions concerning the offensive strategy to be employed against the Axis this year.

Sitting together in the White House with their high ranking naval, military and air experts, the two leaders of the United Nations are, according to a joint statement issued by them, in "complete understanding and harmony" concerning the "vast and grave tasks which lie ahead."

Responsible diplomatic sources in Washington believe the decisions which the president and prime minister are making will be along the following lines:

Believed Program

1. To strengthen immediately the British position in Egypt in view of German General Erwin Rommel's swift advance through Libya.
2. To launch against Germany within the next few weeks the greatest Anglo-American air offensive the world has ever seen.
3. To speed up and increase Anglo-American aid to Soviet Russia.
4. To set a tentative date for the opening of a second land front in Europe later this year, providing circumstances are favorable.
5. To intensify American air and submarine attacks against Japanese forces in the Pacific.

There are growing indications in official circles in Washington that the British are reluctant to agree to any major attempt to invade the continent of Europe until the Egyptian situation has been stabilized.

Yanks Smash Jap Ships, Planes In Midway Battle

Sea-Borne Aid For Defenders Of Sevastopol

Moscow Reports Reinforcements Arrive To Aid Beleaguered Naval Base

NEW ATTACK MADE NEAR KHARKOV

Russia Claims Nazi Losses In Year Of Battle Reach 10,000,000 Total

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, June 23.—Strong units of sea-borne Russian reinforcements were reported arriving in the Crimea today to aid in the defense of beleaguered Sevastopol.

The Soviet reinforcements were said by the newspaper Pravda to be landing from the sea in the face of intensified German pressure against the Black Sea naval base.

German Col. Gen. Fritz Von Manstein, after failing to subdue Sevastopol on the anniversary of Germany's first year of war with Russia, poured in hundreds of dive-bombers in a new concerted attempt to smash the Soviet bastion.

Evacuate Children

Pravda said part of Sevastopol's siege weary population, particularly, children were being evacuated. The removal of children and other civilians from Sevastopol was seen as an added indication of Russian determination to hold the naval base at all cost. Or at least make Von Manstein pay the highest price possible for any gains.

Permanent Gas Rationing In Eastern States Is Postponed To July 22

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Postponement of the east coast's permanent gasoline rationing program until July 22 today was said to be an apparent move to give government experts time to study results of the scrap rubber campaign to determine whether nation-wide rationing of motor fuel is necessary.

Originally, the permanent coupon-book plan was scheduled to open July 1 in the 17 states from Maine (Continued On Page Two)

The lads who used to thrill the crowds with runs and tackles on the grid are playing now another game, just like their great grandfathers did. Instead of pigskin they now have a gun or tank, perhaps a plane, but that old college spirit still is helping them in their new game. The kick off comes most any time, the game is rough the going hard, and oftentimes they have to scrap for days to make a half a yard. But wait until the score is in, in spite of greed and sordid hate, those boys will show another man, the weather's bright and seventy eight.

Plastering Contract Awarded By Board

Repairs To Be Made To Thaddeus Stevens And West Side Schools

At a special meeting of the New Castle School Board held Monday night June 22, a contract was awarded to Theodore Gunnert for plastering repairs in the Thaddeus Stevens and West Side Schools.

Gunnert's price was $270 per yard for suspending the ceilings in the rooms affected and 90 cents per yard for plastering repairs.

It is planned to drop or suspend the ceilings in 5 rooms of the Thaddeus Stevens School and 12 rooms in the West Side school. In addition there is considerable repair work to be done in the room. The work will start immediately in order that it may have a chance to dry in time for painting before school starts in September.

This was the only item of business transacted save for a few requests for tax compromises which the Solicitor Charles H. Young was authorized not to oppose.

Merchant Ship Sunk By Mine

(International News Service)
AN EAST COAST PORT, June 23.—Survivors today told how their medium-sized American merchant ship struck an enemy mine off the Virginia coast and sank in about three minutes.

Of the 47 men aboard the vessel, including a nine-man naval crew, all were saved except three of the ship's operating personnel.

Third Mate Ervine C. Leetz said that the boat either ran into a mine or the mine floated into us at 7:30 a. m. about seven miles from land last week. Unable to lower lifeboats because of the ship's rapid sinking, crewmen managed to get two rafts into the water and rescues were effected by naval and coast guard ships, he said.

None of the survivors were able to account for the missing men except that "they might have been blown off the ship and drowned."

Hunt For Jap Sub Off Oregon Coast

Planes And Ships Join In Search

Widespread Chase On For Enemy Ship Which Fired At Oregon Coast

SAME SUB ALSO IN VANCOUVER ATTACK

(BULLETIN)

ASTORIA, Ore., June 23.—United States planes and surface craft today pursued a relentless hunt for a marauding hit-run enemy vessel, believed to have been a Japanese submarine, which lobbed nine 5-inch shells into the Oregon coast shortly before midnight Sunday.

Observers believed that the attack was staged as a "face-saving" maneuver to give Tokyo and Berlin radios something for local consumption and in an effort to draw the Japanese public's attention from heavy losses suffered by the Nipponese in the Coral Sea and Midway naval battles.

Some Excitement

The attack produced some excitement among the civilian population, but none of the morale-shattering type an enemy would hope for. Thousands of curious flocked to the scene and many souvenir hunters carried away shell fragments despite an army request that civilians remain away for fear that unexploded shells had landed during the attack.

Scores of persons witnessed the attack and heard both the shrill scream of the shells as they arched in from the sea and the dull detonations as they landed. Typical spectator reaction was expressed by a small boy who exclaimed: "Some fireworks, eh?"

While civilians refused to be seriously impressed by the shelling, military authorities enforced the strictest alert precautions throughout the Pacific northwest, especially around the mouth of the Columbia river.

Attacks By Lone Sub

LONDON, June 23.—A Tokyo broadcast of a Japanese Domei News agency report heard by Reuters (British) News agency today said that the Japanese submarine which attacked Vancouver Island was the same which lobbed shells into the Oregon coast.

Domei appeared somewhat confused in its reports which conflicted with a previous broadcast by the Japanese-controlled Batavia radio.

In every last test, "religious tolerance" has proved a myth. What we call tolerance now is largely indifference.

Your bright lights, have your blinds drawn. A faint ray of light showing from the outside does not matter during the dimout but unless you want to blackout your windows all night, do not use bright lights. The blackout period of half an hour will be announced by sirens, bells, and fire alarms. This means that no pedestrians or motorists are allowed out doors except those authorized by the Council of Defense. This includes air raid wardens, auxiliary policemen, auxiliary firemen, newspaper men, physicians, and workers in railroad and utility plants.

Take Shelter

If you are on the street when the blackout siren sounds, take shelter. Get into a building nearby. If you are driving a car pull over to the curb, shut off your lights, lock your ignition and get out of the car. Do not lock the doors of the car. Better yet put the car in a parking lot.

Persons authorized to drive cars during the blackout period may do so by using their dim lights, and driving at a speed not over 20 miles per hour. Persons who must use their cars during the blackout, this includes physicians, nurses, newspaper men or wardens covering wide territories must have an "E" pasted upon their windshield and back window. The "E" must be not smaller than 12 inches high. Permission to use these "E's" and also the necessary cards may be secured from Col. Jackson.

Those persons whose work makes it necessary for them to eat in a restaurant during the night should make sure their restaurant will be in operation. Only those establishments are properly blacked out will be permitted to continue to do business during the entire night.

Theatre Patrons

Theatre patrons should remain in their seats during the total blackout. The picture shows will go on but the outside lights will be off.

Don't use the telephone. It isn't important that you call Aunt Iphigenia over on the West Side to see if the blackout is working. Do not use the telephone for anything but emergency calls during the half hour blackout.

If an emergency arises in your home through sickness, call the American Red Cross. The motor corps will answer any legitimate emergency call.

To brief the entire matter these rules should be remembered. Prepare one room of your home in which your lights may shine but have the windows properly blacked out.

When you hear the siren, be sure no ray of light shines from your home or building. Stay off the streets, don't use the telephone. Co-operate with the authorities in this test.

And finally, if an air raid warden calls at your home and tells you to turn off your light, co-operate with him. Don't get tough about the matter. After all he does have arresting authority.

"Don't worry about the rubber shingle," said Mr. Roosevelt. And millions cheered and quit trying to save tires.

navy's naval units Luftwaffe dive-bombers concentrated their attacks on Sevastopol's coastal defenses. The toll of German casualties in the fierce battle around the Crimean fortress mounted hourly. Casualties were estimated at 100,000, with a probable 50,000 of these killed.

While the beleaguered defenders of Sevastopol were subjected to constant, merciless hammering of Nazi planes, tanks, artillery and infantry forces, Marshal Semyon Timoshenko's Ukraine army tackled units under command of Field Marshal Fedor von Bock which launched a new offensive attempt on the Kharkov front, 400 miles to the northeast.

Attack On Kharkov Front

Soviet reports said Russian troops had made a counter-attack on one sector of the Kharkov front, driving the Germans back across an important river, presumably the Donetz. The Russian counter-attack was said to have resulted in recapture of a number of villages on the west bank of the river. Many Germans reportedly drowned.

Details of the new action around Kharkov were lacking but it was deemed important enough by the Red army high command to warrant mention in the midnight communiqué.

"On the 22nd in the Kharkov direction enemy attacking forces were engaged," the communiqué said. "In the Sevastopol sector fierce fighting continued."

"There were no material changes in other sectors."

Claim Huge Casualties

The sole anniversary present extended to the Germans to mark the opening of the second year of the Russo-German war was an official Soviet announcement that Nazi troops in one year of conflict suffered 10,000,000 casualties, no less than 3,500,000 of whom were killed. The losses exceeded the total of 7,142,558 casualties suffered by Kaiser Wilhelm's armies in more than four years of combat in the first World War.

The 10,000,000 total, the special Soviet announcement said, included German troops killed, wounded and missing. Russian losses, it was said, totalled 4,500,000 in dead, wounded and missing.

In listing of material losses during the first year of combat which began on the morning of Sunday, June 22, 1941, it was reported that the Nazis lost 24,000 tanks, an average of 2,000 a month.

German plane losses in the period almost equaled tank losses. The figure being placed at 20,000. The number of German guns captured or destroyed was given as 30,500. On the debit side of the ledger, the Soviets said their losses during the year included 22,000 guns, 15,000 tanks and 9,000 planes.

Thursday night's dimout and blackouts tests are no time for any "sightseeing" tours in this locality. If you have no official business out that night, leave your auto in the garage.

New York, June 23.—The fighting at Sevastopol is now so fierce that the Germans are making no attempt to bury their dead, the British radio said today, according to CBS.

Pa. News can't help wondering how New Castle people are going to react to the black-dimout next Thursday. He has heard so many people harp on the "it can't happen here" and "What's the use of all that trouble" lines that it scares him a little. Thinking like that can lead only to a farce and farces in a time of total war are extremely dangerous, as France, Norway, Poland, Greece—most of Europe have learned. Once and for all, it CAN happen here in New Castle, and we had better be ready.

Expect Panzer Attack

The Axis assault against Egypt is expected to be led by Rommel's 21st panzer division and the Italian ariete division, according to military observers, since these forces played only a small part in the capture of Tobruk which was carried out mainly by the 15th panzer division supported by Italian and German infantry.

It was revealed for the first time that the Nazis introduced parachute troops into the Libyan fighting during the Tobruk assault. In some quarters this was seen as an initial move to test the practicability of using paratroops in desert fighting.

Based on the island of Crete to the rear of the British eighth army, the Nazis have thousands of paratroops stationed at the present time which may be thrown into action when Rommel gives the signal for an advance on the Egyptian frontier.

The defense line behind which Gen. Ritchie is deploying his British troops was prepared some time ago to meet an eventual Axis attempt to storm the frontier and drive toward Alexandria and Suez. Gen. Ritchie apparently has staked much on holding this line. Making it powerful has been one of his principal objectives and undoubtedly accounts for his recent strategy of conducting a "defensive offense" rather than an attacking offensive such as the Axis has used.

Curious Raisers

Military and naval men believe that recent operations and various fronts have been curtain raisers for the main act of the summer—a German push along the entire Russian front from Murmansk to the Crimea and a Nipponese aerial, land and sea assault upon Soviet defenses in Siberia.

These preliminary actions are described as the "German thrust through Libya toward the Egyptian border; the fierce Nazi siege to liberate Sevastopol; the intensified U-boat campaign against United Nations shipping in the Atlantic; Japanese invasion of the western tip of the Aleutians; and Nipponese harassing sea attacks against the American Pacific coast."

Germany's "Big Push" against Russia is expected to begin momentarily all along the front, and military observers are fairly certain that Japan will strike at Siberia as soon as the Nipponese high command feels sure that the Nazi summer campaign is making progress.

AXIS COLUMNS MOVING TOWARD EGYPTIAN BORDER

command of Lieut. Gen. Neil M. Ritchie made ready behind strong fortifications on a line running from Sidi Barrani to Sidi Omar to ward off the Axis blow.

Scattered small units of British troops, defying surrender, meanwhile continued to fight in isolated areas in the vicinity of fallen Tobruk. Observers reported that from sectors near the Mediterranean port.

RUBBER IS IMPORTANT

LAWRENCE county residents once more are doing their bit to help in the war effort.

The old tires, tubes and household articles being contributed throughout the nation will help tremendously in the current shortage. A 50-foot length of your leaky garden hose will furnish rubber equivalent to that in a Navy inflatable life raft. Two of the old tires in your garage equal one new tire for an Army jeep. Two old inner tubes add up to three heavy Army gas masks. Three discarded rubbers furnish enough reclaim for one Army overshoe. And one hot water bottle has enough rubber for two yards of hospital sheeting.

These figures show how valuable your old rubber goods can be if they are sold to your local service station in the government's current drive. It is not too late to take inventory in your home. Make the rounds from the cellar to the attic during the week-end and salvage everything possible. It may not seem important but it is one way of helping your government.

MAKING THE STEEL

Steel production in the United States is now constantly hovering near 100 per cent of mill capacity. A record was reached in March with an output of 7,392,911 tons. This dropped to 7,122,313 tons in April but rose in May to 7,386,890 tons.

Two factors kept May from hanging up a new record. A flood handicapped operations at one of the major plants of the Bethlehem company, and an explosion in another major establishment, Jones and Laughlin, put a blast furnace out of business and shut off some of the supply of pig iron from the mills.

U. S. steel output during the present war has been enormous. In the last seventeen months the per cent or production to capacity has ranged monthly from 96 to more than 99 with a single exception—January this year, when it dropped to 94.7 per cent.

UNCLE SAM, PAYMASTER

Whatever may be the contribution in blood by the United States to the winning of the war, our financial burden is going to exceed that of any other nation. It has been assumed here and abroad that most, if not, indeed, all the lease-lend material would go as gifts, to be paid for, to be sure, but by Americans instead of foreigners. That will have much argument to support it, grounded on the fact that it is all part of our contribution to the winning of the war.

Now, the "give" view has administration support. In his report to congress on lease-lend operations President Roosevelt said that, when it finally comes to settling accounts at the end of the war, this country does not intend to demand payment, dollar for dollar, tank for tank and plane for plane. The probability that it will not demand any repayment must be considered, and of course the first world war debts are out the window. For our debtors to repay might devastate our foreign trade for generations to come, either by forcing us to accept huge quantities of foreign goods or by compelling us to try to compete with depreciated currencies.

In any event, the process of re-establishing world trade is going to be tough for a long time on our exports. An offset will be the need for tremendous reconversion of our domestic industries.

MORE LIGHT NEEDED ON SUGAR

Reports that sugar warehouses are bulging with surpluses and that some representatives of the sugar industry are urging liberalized rations in order to provide storage space for the new crop come as something of a surprise. It wasn't many months ago that the American people were told that the sugar situation was critical and that rationing was highly essential.

Indications now, however, are not only that sugar deliveries from outside the country have been larger than had been expected, but that beet sugar shipments have been considerably above earlier estimates.

If it turns out now that there is plenty of sugar for ordinary needs, sugar rationing may turn a little sour. There has already been a lot of confusion over gasoline and rubber restrictions. The sugar situation seems to call for clarification.

One thing is sure. The American people will accept gladly any and all regulations, however inconvenient, if they are necessary for victory in this war. But first they ought to know, beyond any question or doubt, what is necessary and what is expected of them. Sugar is a necessity and its rationing should be based on demonstrable facts.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

AMERICAN SPEED

American motor car companies are up to old tricks in reducing the production time for a product. Their manufacture of motor cars in great quantities came to be the wonder of the world. They are applying identical processes to arms production.

After preliminaries were completed one company turned out its second million large shells in 55 days. Then it took a new grip and produced another million in 35 days. When it really gets going this company may be making a million shells in ten days.

A motor car parts plant has clipped 25 per cent from the time originally required to make machine guns. One company which formerly produced passenger cars went into production on an anti-aircraft gun of foreign design seven months after receipt of the order, which was four months less than the time expected and 80 days less than the time required by a leading British manufacturer.

A motor car parts firm has found ways to manufacture twenty to thirty times as many machine gun parts as could be produced by regular arsenal machinery operating in the same building. This mass production has lowered the cost of the arms about 40 per cent.

Tank production, most of which is in the hands of former motor car manufacturers, is reported to exceed the combined output of all Axis powers. Similar speed is now being achieved with aircraft engines and other war essentials.

Hitler must yearn occasionally for the good old days when everything came easy.

Hitler invaded Russia one year ago, and he is still chewing desperately on the big bite he took.

"We can't win all the time," says Tokyo. And soon Japan will no longer win all the time.

TRAIN CHILD TO SPEAK CLEARLY

You and I want to make ourselves more likeable. We want to do so for our own personal satisfaction and for the pleasure of other persons. Also we are eager to become good models in speech and behavior for our children.

Many times in these columns I have called attention to the voice as an item in personality. Parents can learn to speak quietly and pleasantly. Fathers can prove themselves more manly as they cultivate deep vibrant tones.

Adults can learn to speak distinctly, by diligently using both lips and tongue. How frequently people mouth their words so that those to whom they speak, hearing only part of what they say, have to guess the remainder. The little child, just learning to talk, must find some people very hard to understand. No wonder he so often acquires the wrong use of words.

Parents and relatives should learn to complete sentences and say exactly what they mean. They may enjoy temporary satisfaction from using slang; but when they do so it is a form of mental laziness. They are not taking the trouble to find the right word and are making no effort to increase their vocabulary. But every parent wishes the children to learn correct speech. So from the baby's birth on both father and mother should cultivate their diction. The child's speech and voice modulation is learned from his parents.

Solving Parent Problems
 Q. Do you know of some good self-teaching booklets in arithmetic which a child could profitably work at during the summer?
 A. Yes, just write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it, and I shall be glad to send you some suggestions. Please give the age and school grade of your child.

THE ONLY WAY

These United States have always housed a great number of pacifists and it is no wonder, for the citizens of this nation have enjoyed all the beautiful things of life, both in the cities and in the country. They have had beautiful homes and beautiful gardens and beautiful fields of waving grain. And it is no wonder that many citizens today ask, "How can a civilized man possibly condone the destruction and bloodshed that aerial bombardments necessarily produce?" The only answer to that is, "It is necessary to fight fire with fire."

The devastation which the R. A. P. produced in Cologne is one specific answer to the frightful bombings which the English have received at the hands of the Germans.

When ambition has caused men like Hitler and Goering to choose war as a method of imposing their ideas upon the rest of the world, we are pushed to the conclusion that as much as there are many things in our own experience worth fighting for, it is necessary for us to defend them in whatever way possible and necessary. And if it is necessary to build and fight one hundred thousand airplanes in order to accomplish this and it is necessary to destroy Germans and Japanese; to destroy their homes and their cities it is the only way of destroying the eventual purposes of the Axis governments. It is one way of "defending our own."

And it is the only way.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
CHICAGO—Rear Admiral F. C. Sherman, commander of the U. S. S. Lexington lost in the victorious Coral Sea battle: "This is 90 per cent an air war, and so far nothing will stop a determined air attack at sea."

BIRMINGHAM—Lord Beaverbrook urges a second front in Europe to help Russia: "We believe in the Russian army, in the skill of the Russian generals, the equipment of the Russian divisions, the fighting power and the fighting qualities of the Russian soldiers under Premier Stalin's leadership."

PITTSBURGH—Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, points to two mistakes of the last peace: "We allowed power politics to develop and did nothing to prevent aggressive nations from arming. We will not make the same mistakes twice."

WASHINGTON—Cordell Hull, secretary of state, in a message to Vyacheslav Molotov, Soviet commissar of foreign affairs: "We are confident that before the end of another year the instigators of this war will have been given to understand how seriously they have underestimated the determination and the ability for effective action of the peace loving nation."

Words Of Wisdom

I consider it a mark of great prudence in a man to abstain from threats or any contemptuous expressions, for neither of these weakens the enemy, but the one makes him more cautious, and the other excites his hatred, and a desire to revenge himself.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:33. Sun rises tomorrow 5:32.

Of course the people in this country are worried, but just think how many people are suffering in Europe.

A divorced actress in Connecticut was told she could see her five children occasionally if she was in a state of complete sobriety. Only good!

ALMOST ASKED
 A prominent attorney representing a railroad told a story of how his company desired to reward an old negro crossing-tender for fullness to his duty and also for his good testimony in an accident case. The darky testified he had warned plaintiff of the train by sedulously swinging a lantern back and forth, and no amount of cross-examination could break down his testimony. After termination of the suit in favor of the railroad, the old darky was called in for congratulations and a nice little check.

"Sam," said the attorney, "I want to tell you how much the company thinks of the fine way you performed your duty on the night of the accident by swinging your lantern back and forth. Take this hundred dollars. Sam, as a token of how much we think of you."

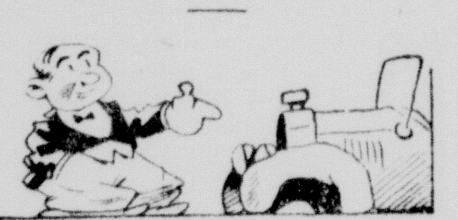

Sam's eyes blazed at the sight of the hundred, and he swelled considerably at his great accomplishment.

"Boss," he said, "I sho do thanks you all, but I want to say I sho was afraid dem lawdless askin' me all dem questions was agwine to fix me if dat lantern I was swingin' was lit."

"Traffic Cop—Hey! What's the idea? Didn't you hear me whistle to you? Pretty Girl Motorist—Certainly I did and if you try it again I'll report you."

There's a bright side. No gas, no need of tires; no need of tires, no tire thieves.

HITLER'S RESERVATION

Hitler called the Devil on the telephone one day.

The girl at Central listened to all they had to say.

Hello, 'tis Hitler speaking, is Old Man Satan Home?

Just tell him it's the Dictator who wants him on the phone.

The Devil said, "Hello, Adolf," and Hitler said, "How are you?"

"I'm running Hell and Earth so tell me what to do."

"What can I do?" the Devil said. "Dear old pal of mine."

You don't need any help from me your doing mighty fine."

"Yes, I was doing fairly well until some time ago."

When a man named Uncle Sam told me to go slow."

He said to me, "Dear Hitler, we don't want to be unkind."

But you've raved hell enough so you had better change your mind."

I thought his Lease Plan a bluff. He'd never get through."

But soon he put me on the spot when he told me what to do."

So that's why I called you, Satan. I need advice from you."

For I know that you can tell me exactly what to do."

Satan said, "Dear Partner, there is not much left to tell."

For Uncle Sam can make it hotter there than I can here in Hell."

I've been a real old Devil, but not half as mean as you."

So the minute you get down here the job is yours to do."

I'll be ready for your coming and I'll keep the fires alight."

I'll get your room all ready as soon as Sam begins to fight."

I know your days are numbered—there's nothing left to tell—"

Hang up your phone—Put on your hat—And come on down to Hell."

What's What At A Glance

Elmer Davis In Need Of More Authority
 Heads Wartime Publicity Organization
 May Clash With Other Federal Agencies

By CHARLES P. STEWART
 Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 23—Elmer Davis is getting into action as Uncle Sam's wartime publicity agent. He started with a peppy description of Ben Hitler as "the greatest slave master in history." Elmer is a dandy newspaperman as a reporter, and a forcible editorial commentator. If sufficient authority is accorded him, he can be gambled on to handle his job 100 per cent from the journalistic standpoint, both for utility to our own and for associated countries' press, and maybe he'll have some influence in Axis news columns.

The only question is, "HAS he got the necessary authority?"

In the last war, George Creel had it. George, of necessity, had subordinates, but there wasn't any doubt that he was boss of 'em. They were subordinates, unmistakably.

It isn't so certain in Elmer's case. It's officially announced that he's superior to Lowell Mellett of the Office of Government Reports to Archibald MacLachlan of the Office of Facts and Figures, to Information Co-ordinator Robert E. Heywood of the Foreign Information Service and to Robert W. Horton of the Office of Emergency Management. Nevertheless, they and their functions survive. Will he be hard-boiled enough to make "em submit to him? I know Elmer's very well personally. I never class him as very hard-boiled, so I'm highly skeptical.

Latin America?

If I'm any judge he ought to have been given jurisdiction over publicity bound Latin America. Likewise, maybe I should know, for I lodged Yankee publicity in South America under George Creel in 1914-18 days. George was perfection as a managing editor as it was then in that area. Probably Elmer would be now too, but he isn't going to supervise that region. It's to be done by Co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs Nelson A. Rockefeller, who knows no more than a rabbit about publicity, there or elsewhere, or theobromine. He knows Latin America, sure, but not Latin America's publicity. George Creel didn't know Latin America but he did know publicity—and it's much the same everywhere.

Colonel "Wild Bill" Donovan likewise is on the loose. Bill runs army and navy publicity independently of Elmer. Army and navy news is quite an item to debar a country's publicity agent, meaning Elmer, to chip into at a time like the present.

Elmer isn't a censor, either. He gives out leaks.

The censor is Byron Price.

Byron can suppress what Elmer thinks ought to be disseminated.

I'm a poor guesser if those two functions are calculated to be harmonious.

In the last war George Creel was a combined publicity agent and censor.

What he wanted to publicize, he publicized. If he thought there was some news that ought to be suppressed, it was his own stuff.

He couldn't very well disagree with HIMSELF.

Wade For Disputes

Elmer and Byron Can disagree. They verge on it already. Elmer's pro-news, Byron's a hush-nusher as you'd expect of a censorship boss. They haven't clashed yet, but it's in sight that they will.

It'll be between Elmer and Lowell Mellett that the principal conflict occurs.

They're both dyed-in-the-wool newspapermen. They'll FIGHT.

I'm kinda in favor of Elmer, because I believe he's especially in favor of taking the cork out wholly, whereas I suspect Byron of New Deal sympathies which may influence him in the present situation.

It's a kind of a left-over sentiment from pre-war days.

Lowell was an original New Dealer, certainly in pre-war days.

I never heard that Elmer was. It's something to think about later on.

The Wallace "Build Up"

WASHINGTON, June 23.

THE STRENUOUS effort to make Vice-President Henry Wallace into a superman has been pushed just a little too far. The key was pitched too high. Too many superlatives were used. The overpraise brought the inevitable reaction.

SOME OF HIS associates in the Senate have begun to laugh and his "dearest friends" in the Administration to make unkind and understated comments—as one's dearest friends so often do. It is a little tough on Mr. Wallace, who is an amiable likable and sincere though somewhat vague man, with plenty of intelligence and high character. But to picture him as a great world statesman, a far-sighted internationalist, a profound economist, an administrative genius and a gifted philosopher with a penetrating understanding of all human problems—that just is overdoing it.

CERTAINLY IT has been overdone for what is known as the Douglas group, composed of advanced New Dealers who rightly or wrongly regard Justice W. O. Douglas as a superior man to Mr. Wallace, meriting consideration ahead of the Vice-President should at some future time—say 1944—the road be open to the White House. And it has been overdone, too, for the friends of Mr. Paul V. McNutt, the handsome Indianan who two years ago aspired first for the Presidency and later for the Vice-Presidency, and who, while he nobly acquiesced, will never be wholly convinced that the President picked the best available man as his running mate last time.

INTERESTINGLY ENOUGH this Wallace campaign seems to have been slightly overdone also for certain members of the White House "inner circle." These take the view that the Wallace tributes were so high and the Wallace eulogists so glowing that it would not now be possible to say more of the President, himself. This offends also their sense of proportion and their conception of propriety and their feeling for the truth. The extraordinary thing is that this prolonged and sustained eulogizing of Mr. Wallace is based wholly on a single speech made in New York some weeks ago, to which the country gave the usual patient inattention with which it has received Mr. Wallace's many other public utterances.

Set slaughter loose on land and sea.

And with exultant hearts rejoice!

The Great Game Of Politics

persons fail to reveal anything remarkable about it—that is, the average mind. Certainly there is not in it a single concrete practical suggestion concerning the post-war period with which it chiefly deals. In defense of this, however, we are now told that those who deal in the concrete are the crackpots and the wise are those who generalize. That is a strange notion, but it has to be accepted to regard the Wallace speech as great. Mr. Wallace did speak of the unreasonableness of a world "half free and half slave"; he did discourse upon what he called the "era of the common man"; he did refer to this as a "people's war"; and he did comment upon the "people's revolution" which began with the establishment of the American Republic. But, there was nothing in the speech that the late William Jennings Bryan, the late Robert M. LaFollette and the late Billy Sunday had not said over and over again. And neither the ideas nor the words were original with them.

NEVERTHELESS, the radicals went almost into hysterics about it. They labeled it a "great historic document." They insisted that Mr. Wallace had "blazed a trail," "revealed the way" and "given the world hope." One weekly magazine went so far as to compare it with Lincoln's Gettysburg address. The newspapers generally were upbraided for failure to appreciate the greatness of this speech. Some attributed this to neglect or ignorance; one highly intellectual writer a few days ago saw in it a conspiracy of "half-witted editors" to keep an "inspired message" from the people. By now, the whole thing has become ridiculous and the innocent Mr. Wallace has suffered in prestige.

IT is likely, of course, that these overheated individuals who have been shrieking about the Wallace speech will now assail those who consider it an ordinary piece of rhetoric as either hopeless ignoramuses or paid reactionaries, animated by some sinister motive. But the fact is that the extravagant outpouring of praise not only has made the naturally modest Mr. Wallace very self-conscious but has aroused suspicion among the low-minded which do him no good. It is all very well to deplore political speculation at this time, but how is it to be avoided? With the President following up his purely political appointment with the unsavory Mr. Frank Hague with purely political conferences with Mr. Jim Farley, Mr. Ed Flynn and others on the New York situation, what is more natural than that politics should be seen in the sudden rather absurd elevation of Mr. Wallace to the Lincoln level by ardent admirers? At any rate, quite a number here do see 1944 politics in it. And some are distressed that it should be so.

Glasgow Preacher Rotary Speaker

Rev. Stewart, Evangelistic
Leader, Heard At Luncheon

FIVE CLUBS DINE
NIGHT OF JUNE 29

Establishment of a lasting peace in the post-war world will present a more complex problem than anybody now imagines, Rev. James A. Stewart, personable Glasgow, Scotland, preacher, indicated in an address to New Castle Rotarians in The Castleton yesterday.

He brought to the luncheon audience a fresh first-hand view of some of the difficulties which will confront the makers of the peace.

Intimately acquainted with the European pre-war picture, Mr. Stewart recalled some of the more vivid experiences of years of preaching on the European continent in the days when the Hitler war plans were developing.

Founded Evangelistic Crusade

Mr. Stewart, introduced by Richard E. Rantz, had been conducting preaching campaigns as the founder and director of the European Evangelistic Crusade before war broke. In his younger days—and not so long ago—he was a reporter for the Glasgow Record, a daily in that thriving metropolis. His friends include the diplomats of both friendly and enemy powers.

Mr. Stewart, who came here about two weeks ago, will preach tonight and Wednesday night in the First Baptist church, East and North streets. He has been appearing at Maitland Memorial Primitive Methodist church.

Members of Rotary will play host to members of the Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange and Wolves clubs at the New Castle Field Club Monday evening, June 29, in another of the series of inter-club dinner programs of New Castle service groups.

Rotary will be in charge of the evening program, which will be highlighted by the address of a representative of the National Association of Manufacturers.

The June 29 dinner will be served at 7 p. m.

Tire Rationing Sales Violations Charged To Two

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 23.—The arrest of two Harrisburg men charged with violating tire rationing regulations were declared today by officials of the Office of Price Administration to be "only the beginning of a case that has wide ramifications."

The men being held in jail are Ben W. Wolf, former service station operator, and John H. Dinger, Jr., present owner of the station. Wolf, under $5,000 bail, is charged with having made a willful false statement to a government agency on his inventory of new tires while Dinger, under $2,500 bail, was accused of selling new tires over the ceiling price and to persons with O. P. A. purchase certificates.

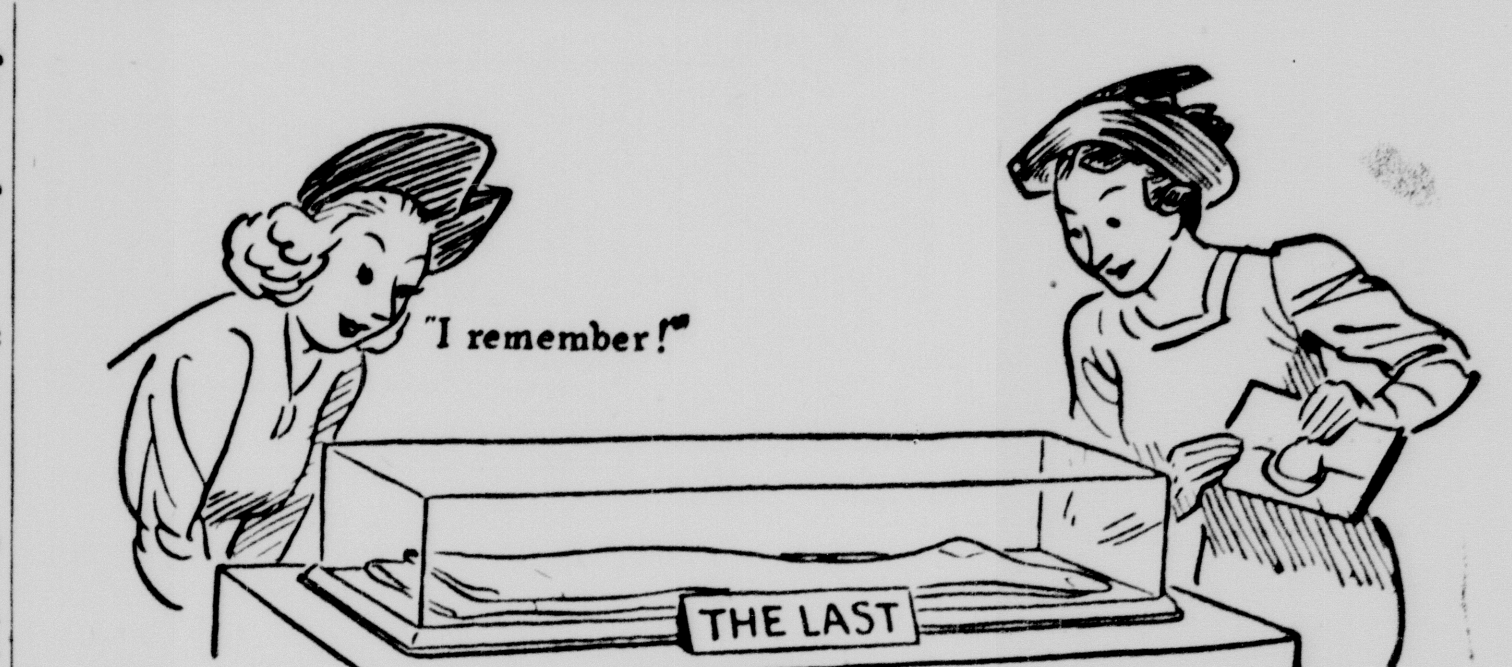

TO THE POINT

(International News Service)
VANCOUVER, B. C.—Constable Tom Scates is a man of few words, and even when he's chasing a 300-pound bear, he can't see any point in getting excited.

Scates was stalking the big black brute in an outlying district of Vancouver, after residents had reported they had wounded the animal.

He found the bear and put him out of commission.

Scates' report to headquarters was terse: "Shot and killed bear. Buried same. Concluded."

The Last Pair of Silk Stockings

The army needs all of the silk available. The silk worms are all in Japan—poor worms. Silk stockings are getting scarcer and scarcer.

When the last pair of silk stockings is used, will legs go bare? Not at all! Hosiery makers will have ingenious substitute materials and styles. Alert dealers will find them for you, and both will tell you all about them in newspaper advertising.

With many things scarce because of the war, and many new things being created to take their place, newspaper advertising is the economical way to bring buyers and sellers together.

By guiding the readers to the best values, and saving their readers money that can help to support the war effort, newspaper advertisements are most important during the war.

Believe Churchill To Weather Storm

British Prime Minister To Respond To Clamor In Britain As Soon As Possible

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill, it was indicated today, will respond as soon as practicable to the clamor in parliament for a personal explanation of the British reverses in Libya.

Whether or not he will hasten the conclusion of his conference with President Roosevelt to respond to the demands in parliament could not be determined, but it was regarded as certain that when the time comes he will again face his critics in the house of commons for a showdown.

Churchill received word today from Major Richard Clement Atlee, deputy prime minister, that the prime minister's presence in Britain is desired.

Official and diplomatic sources in Washington believe Churchill faces a crucial test when he endeavors to defend the unexpectedly swift British defeat in Libya, but the view prevails generally that he will succeed in weathering the storm.

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS.—There may be shortages of sugar, toothpaste tubes, automobile tire rubber and trouser cuffs—but the lovely lines of feminine America will still be clad in attractive hose, at least until 1943.

A New Orleans hosiery company executive said while there is a scarcity of silk and nylon, there are still ample supplies of rayon; enough for most of the 30,000,000 pairs of hose to be manufactured this year.

Summer Services Schedule Given

Services To Be Held Sunday
Evenings In Community
Building, Cascade Park

NEW PLAN BEING TRIED THIS YEAR

Following members of the New Castle Ministerial Association park services committee, Rev. Charles J. Burton, chairman, Rev. G. S. Bennett and W. A. Thornton, assisted by Rev. A. E. Simon and J. C. Rose, met recently at the First Presbyterian church where plans were completed for the summer park services.

A new plan is being tried this year whereby each of the major religious bodies will be responsible for one night with the clergy of that body as the committee in charge, all other churches backing up the services by the attendance of their ministers and members.

Services will be held as usual in the Community building at Cascade Park with the services commencing at 7:30 p. m., which is one half hour later than heretofore. It being the consensus of opinion that this would be a much better time.

The schedule is as follows, with the first person named as chairman:

Sunday, July 5—A patriotic sacred service in charge of the Salvation Army, with Captain and Mrs. Carl Anderson in charge.

Sunday, July 12—The Episcopal church, Rev. Robert M. C. C. Swold and Rev. Charles J. Burton.

Sunday, August 9—The Free Methodist church, Rev. P. C. Millard, Donald Woods and D. E. Joseph.

Sunday, August 16—The Presbyterian church, Rev. R. M. Patterson, J. J. McIlvaine and Mr. Victor Carlson.

Sunday, August 23—The colored churches, Rev. K. M. Taylor, J. H. Dandridge, U. S. Munnerlyn, J. G. Strothers and J. H. Thomas.

Sunday, August 30—The Lutheran and Evangelical churches, Rev. A. E. Simon, A. M. Stump, P. J. Tau and C. H. Dietrich.

Sunday, Sept. 6—The closing service will be held as per custom and courtesy in the church of the president of the Ministerial Association, the First United Presbyterian church, with Dr. S. E. Irvine in charge.

The Ministerial Association committee in charge of these services is the Revs. J. J. McIlvaine, W. A. Thornton, G. S. Bennett, R. B. Withers and C. J. Burton, chairman. The committee for each service will be responsible for securing the preacher and all other activities of the service.

The community building was fixed by the park commission two years ago with the park services especially in mind, and it is a comfortable place to hold the services despite any inclement weather that may arise. It is also provided with comfortable seats. The park commission is co-operating in these services.

Darwin Home Wrecked by Bombs

When Jap bombs fell on Darwin, northernmost port in Australia, some weeks ago they wrecked this private home completely. For quite some time the Jap bombers stayed away from the city after taking a drubbing from U. S. and Australian fliers. Now, once again, Hirohito's planes are raiding the port and United Nations' pilots are taking to the skies in increasing numbers to ward off the attacks.

GETTING THINGS DONE NEEDN'T BE A DIZZY SCRAMBLE

With so many important things to think about and do today isn't it wonderful to know that there's a silent worker in your home which can be called upon at the flick of a switch? Electricity is today's economy servant. It's there at daybreak to get breakfast . . . at mid-day and evening to prepare lunch and dinner . . . and it's there every hour in between to help with the housework, the laundry, the ironing, the bath and to supply light for reading.

TAKE GOOD CARE OF WHAT YOU HAVE

There's an especially high value on your electrical appliances today because most of them cannot be replaced for the present. . . . Care for them according to the manufacturer's instructions. Stop at the Pennsylvania Power Company for a copy of the informative booklet "The Care and Use of Electrical Appliances in the Home" . . . Have an electric repairman check them— to make sure they are working properly, and to avoid the delays and inconveniences of breakdowns. . . . Do these things and your electrical servants will last longer!

Aid Of U. S. Fighting Men Is Promised Russia

Message Given By U. S. President

Russian War Relief Society Meeting In New York Told Of Plans To Aid

HOPKINS RELAYS PRESIDENT'S WORD

(International News Service) NEW YORK, June 23.—President Roosevelt today promised the hard-pressed red army that khaki-clad American doughboys would soon be fighting on the "field of battle" against their common foe, Nazi Germany.

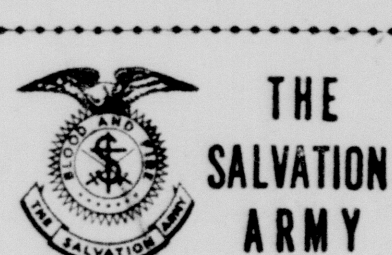

The presidential message was delivered to the mass rally of the Russian war relief society at the White House, which was held at Madison Square Garden.

Hopkins told the 22,000 assembled guests that he asked Mr. Roosevelt if he had anything to say to the people at Madison Square Garden.

"Yes," Hopkins quoted President Roosevelt as saying, "I tell them that we mean to give Russia aid on the field of battle and that our armed forces will attack at the right time and right place and that the Russian front will not fail."

Earlier Maxim Litvinov, the Russian ambassador to the United States, reiterated his plea for a second front and declared that Hitler was now flinging all his forces along the vast Soviet front in his final throw of the dice on which he is staking his all.

Hopkins, in his confident fighting speech, said that General George C. Marshall, chief of staff, was not training 3,000,000 ground troops "to play tiddly wings" as he disclosed that one topic of the Roosevelt-Churchill discussions was the much-talked-about second front. He said they were now in Washington engaged in planning the offensive strategy of the war—and I can assure you that that business is being accomplished."

The Salvation Army does issue a balance sheet. The fact that The Salvation Army issues no Balance Sheet is one of the very oldest in the history of the organization, and it is one of the most worn of all "alibis" given by folk who do not want to contribute to the work of the Army.

Every year the accounts of The Salvation Army, Inc., at the various Territorial Headquarters are gone over, and following this audit a balance sheet is issued which is available to all who are interested. The Army has long realized the importance of its position as custodian and distributor of the gifts of others for the less fortunate, and acts with scrupulous care both to safeguard such gifts and to see that they are used to the utmost advantage.

In all Salvation Army corps and institutions throughout the country, the same meticulous care is shown. Books must be ready for inspection at any time, with receipts and vouchers carefully and methodically kept.

The "Orders and Regulations for Officers of The Salvation Army," states as follows:

"Full, careful and correct accounts of all money transactions must be kept. This rule applies to every department of Army activity. Every fact concerning finance must be recorded so clearly and straight-forwardly that it will be possible to understand exactly what was done even when those acquainted with the circumstances are far away. To ensure accuracy all Army accounts are periodically overhauled by duly appointed officers, and those of the central funds by a firm of auditors also."

Salvationists are taught to believe that "Army Money" belongs to God and to His service and should ever be regarded as sacred. This accounts for the rigid care with which Army funds are handled and the faithfulness with which they are administered.

'Journal' Predicts 'New Vessel' Will Replace Battleship

'Final Answer To Sea Control, Editors Say, Not Plane Carrier'

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The authoritative Army and Navy Journal predicted Saturday that on the basis of present Pacific naval warfare, a new type of vessel—not the present aircraft carrier—will replace the battleship as the "backbone of the fleet."

In its leading editorial the Journal said that the "final answer" to control of the seas is not the aircraft carrier as we know it today.

Of the vessels of the future, the Journal said "that speed and quick maneuverability are essential; they must be heavily armored... and extensively compartmented."

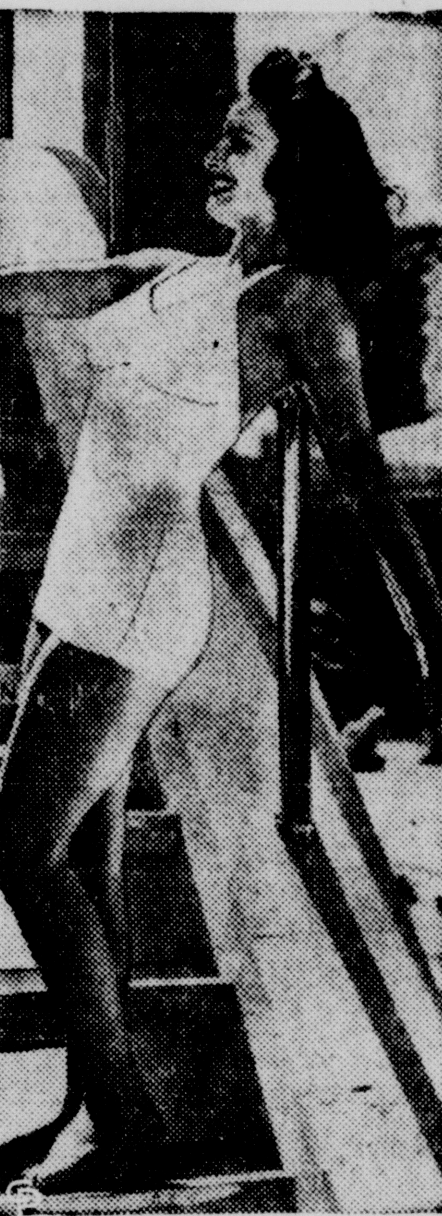

"They will be covered with anti-aircraft guns," the editorial added, "and they will have a large force of planes, torpedoes and bombers, with a deck long enough to take off and return."

The Journal said that pending the development of a new design we are following the "conservative course" of creating powerful aircraft carrier, cruiser, destroyer and submarine reinforcements.

"The new craft of the battle line we cannot foresee," the Journal said. "But it will be fast—our speedy maneuverable 8-inch gun cruisers, which we regarded with disfavor, are proving their value. They will be protected by thick armor everywhere. They will be covered with anti-aircraft guns. They will have not nine 16-inch guns, but four or six 14-inch guns. And they will have a large force of planes, torpedoes and bombers, with a deck long enough to take off and return."

Salvationists are taught to believe that "Army Money" belongs to God and to His service and should ever be regarded as sacred. This accounts for the rigid care with which Army funds are handled and the faithfulness with which they are administered.

Farm Placements In State Increase

Thirty-Four High School Students Answer Call In One Place

A 60 per cent increase in farm placements by U. S. employment offices in Pennsylvania during the first three months of 1942, as compared with the corresponding period last year, was reported today by Raymond J. Latchaw, manager of the New Castle office of the U. S. Employment Service at 132½ East Washington street, New Castle.

"Although the first three months of the year are generally a slack season for agricultural activities, the sharp rise in the number of farm jobs filled by the U. S. Employment Service is evidence of the increasing success of the employment service in meeting farm labor requirements," Mr. Latchaw declared.

The employment service manager cited a case of outstanding service by a U. S. employment office in a central Pennsylvania community as an illustration of this government agency is tapping new sources of supply to fill jobs for farm employers. An urgent call for 34 workers to plant asparagus roots was received at the U. S. employment office from a large grower in the area. Normal sources of farm labor in the community were completely exhausted, but the employment service, in cooperation with the local school authorities, was able to refer promptly a group of older high school students who had previously been registered at the employment service as available for work. Thirty-four of these students were immediately hired by the food grower and performed an excellent job on the asparagus planting.

"This is only one instance of many that might be cited to show how the employment service is prepared to take whatever action may be necessary to meet the needs of farm employers as speedily and effectively as possible," Manager Latchaw stated. "The employment service follows a policy of filling farm job openings with the best qualified workers available. Experienced farm workers from the area are sought first, but if such workers are not available, other sources of labor in the community, such as women, older school children, handicapped persons or minority groups, may be tapped to find the needed workers, or qualified workers from other areas may be located and brought into the job through the clearance system which connects the New Castle employment office with more than 80 other full time offices in Pennsylvania and with 1500 full time employment offices throughout the country."

Mr. Latchaw urged all farm employers who anticipate a need for workers to inform their local U. S. employment office in advance of the number and kind of workers they will need, as this will enable the employment service to meet their requirements more successfully. He also urged all farm workers or any persons interested in agricultural employment, to register at once with the local office of the U. S. employment service, located at 132½ East Washington street, New Castle, Pa.

Today's Recruits Bring June Total To 33; Eclipses Previous Totals

With three enlistments in the U. S. Navy today, the Navy recruiting record for the month has reached 33, announced Chief D. C. Ritchie. "Since we had but 17 in May and only 10 in April," said Ritchie, "we think this is pretty good." He continued that it looked as though there might be at least 40 enlistments before the month is over the way men are coming in now.

Two New Castle men were among those who enlisted yesterday. They are Francis A. Cray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Cray, 919 Winslow avenue, and John Solomon, 207½ N. Liberty street. The other recruit is Charles H. Eckles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Annie L. Eckles, 203 N. High street, New Wilmington.

The men, who enlisted through the local Navy recruiting station on the second floor of the Post Office, will serve for the duration of the war.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

YORK AGAIN—Rudolph York of the Tigers is caught in another slide during a game with Yanks in New York.

Marine And Soldier To Battle Here

Notable Battle To Take Place In Arena One Week From Tonight

While the nation is speculating whether or not Joe Louis and Billy Conn will fight a second time because of the war department cancelling service men's leaves for such privileges, fight fans here are looking forward to the clash between U. S. Marine Sergeant Jimmy Final and U. S. Army Sergeant Bill Bilpuch, heavyweights in the arena, one week from tonight.

Because both service men are on duty here and will not be required to absent themselves from their post, the fight will go on and owing to the intense rivalry between the two branches of service the fight hungry may rest assured they're going to see how marines battle soldiers and how soldiers battle marines. Yes, folk, a hot pugilistic night is one week distant.

However, they're not the only pugilistic prominent who are going to toss leather although Billy Grumbacher will not be among those present. He had to withdraw from a fight with his conqueror of weeks ago, Russ Baxter, because he has a date with a doctor in a Youngstown hospital and that is more important to said Billy than facing Baxter in the ring.

Crews Capable Opponent But Baxter will have no easy foe. Indeed not. In our opinion he is going to fight one of the toughest and also one of the best middleweights in tri-state amateur boxing and to the winner will go the championship of this county. The opponent? None other than the Ellwood City Ebony Kid, Roy Crews. Crews has battered Chris Tabor out of a decision which speaks volumes.

Frankie Moran, Lawrence county southpaw will oppose Tommy Williams of Carnegie. Williams was the runner-up for the lightweight championship in the Diamond Belt tournament. This looks like a warm slugging-bee.

Babe Leasure will fight Danny Davis of Carnegie. Davis was going to fight in the Diamond Belt welterweight tournament. No doubt this scrap will be as interesting as any on the calendar.

Harley Shoaf, Jr., To Box Tony Aiello, Youngstown City college slugger who made such a big hit recently will box Bobby Dundee of Pittsburgh at 155; Babe Adams of Carnegie will take on Leo Simionich of Youngstown, at 135.

The last fight show here found Harley Shoaf, Jr., earning the plaudits of the crowd. He will box Bill Posey of Ellwood City at 140 and Carl Householder of Wampum will tackle Don Jerry, of this city, at 145.

All of the boxers from this city are training at the Jefferson A. C. Manager Richardson of the arena anticipates the Jefferson battlers will draw a big crowd, likewise the service men's battles and will make arrangements for extra seating capacity in the air-cooled arena.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Scrambling a few sports bits:

New Castle's recent USO benefit game, played between the Slovaks and Elders and sponsored by the City Baseball league swelled the fund to the extent of $127.18. Connie Zuk, who conceived the idea, and President Mike Donovan of the league, utilized this medium to thank all those who cooperated in making the occasion a success.

For a fellow who is past the 65-year-old mark, W. T. Saul is as tough a golfer as you'll find anywhere in the country. We accidentally came across Saul's recent card posted at Silver Heights. He recorded a pair of birdies and three pars in covering the treacherous course in 84. Only a dozen strokes over par. The retired railroad worker serves on the club's advisory committee.

A fan postcard that Carl Chiafallo, the good looking West Side athlete, turned in a no-hit no-run game against the West Side Tigers, a team for whom he now twirled, during the last semester. He chuckled in a Croton uniform when he recorded the dream game. That performance may have caused the Tigers to snatch him.

"Lindy" Laura's versatility even reaches the diamond. The ex-New Castle high and Roosevelt Academy star athlete hurls for the St. Margaret's of the City-County Independent Baseball circuit. He tossed a few days ago, striking out 13 men and yielding only two safeties. Laura, by the way, expects to don an army suit soon.

Someone asked Ben Hogan to point out the one thing that has made him Mr. Golf. The Hershey pro, who has won over $11,000 so far this season, exclaimed "that's easy. I just follow a rule a teacher taught me—practice makes perfect."

Willis Hudlin, who flung for Cleveland for 15 seasons, is managing Little Rock of the Southern association.

Gee Walker, Cincinnati's outfielder, expects a fourth visit from Mr. Stork soon. . . . Jim Turner is among the most popular major leaguers. Youngsters particularly admire the twirler because he's never too busy to unfurl a few pointers. . . . The Boston Red Sox home attendants is 20,000 ahead of last year's mark.

A recent survey disclosed that more than two dozen schools have quit football for the duration. At least one more district school is seriously thinking of giving up the sport. . . . Eddie Miller, of the Boston Braves, is seeking the base-stealing crown in the National. His goal is 32.

Whirlaway set a new track record at Aqueduct Monday to win an ordinary overnight race that was to be a "week-out" tightener for Saturday's Brooklyn handicap. Under the strange handling of Jockey George Woolf, little Mr. Big Tail came from far back, as usual in the 1-1-8 mile test to hang his nose on the wire in front of Attention, son of Equipoise who upset "Whirl" in the Arlington classic a year ago.

To pick up the $2,275 purse he had to clear the distance in 1:49 2-5, three fifths of a second better than the old track mark which was posted by his handicap rival, Market Wise, last September.

Sailing through air today to the Great Northwest to our son are some excellent flies tied by Clair Stitt of Harding avenue. There are some beautiful lakes where graylings and lake trout are to be had and hearing that the fish are much liked by the Engineers in that section Stitt made up the batch and brought them around. The boys will be thankful to Clair, one of the city's best fly-tiers and also one of the best of fishermen. . . . Fireman Steinbrink and some of his pals are making ready for a fish expedition. They have made several trips to Canada and are now mapping plans. Some fishing folk are going by train this year and others will gas up and ship their cars across from New York state points. If they run out of gas and have used their Canada bought supply, it will be too bad.

That coming Roy Crews-Russell fight will be for the middleweight championship of Lawrence county. Anyone who believes the Ellwood City lad does not have a chance is wrong. He best Chris Tabor and actually he anticipates a great fight. Ellwood City will come here strong hopeful of annexing the title. It is no ordinary fight and may be as sensational as the Baxter-Genaro and Baxter-Grumbacher battles. They were spectacular to say the least. . . . Melio Bettina is a seven to five favorite to best Harry Bobo in Cleveland's "Bomber for MacArthur" fistie show.

Ted Schroeder, Stanford U. advanced to the second round of the National Intercollegiate net tournament at New Orleans yesterday by overwhelming Dave Bryant, Jr., Austin college, Texas, 6-1, 6-0. . . . Ford Frick, president of the National league, will attend the Army-Navy relief game, July 9, at Pittsburgh. . . . Sammy Parotta knocked out Detroit's Chick Sanchez in the sixth round at Pittsburgh last night. . . . Mel Hein will coach Union college at Schenectady this year. That is the institution where the late Jimmie Dime was track coach.

TIGERS WIN EASILY Neal Tigers walloped Shadyside, 18-5, yesterday. Naples gave up seven hits for the winners. J. Pallone and A. Russo were the hitting stars. For games with the Tigers call 1318-R and ask for Albert.

HITS IN SERIES Joe Gordon, 1942 batting star, never has batted over .300 for a full season. He was a .300 hitter with Oakland in 1936. With the Yanks his best mark was in 1939—.284. But in three World Series he hit .349.

ADDS NEW PITCH An old dog can teach himself new tricks. Ray Starr, 36-year-old rookie pitcher of the Reds, has added a knuckle ball this year.

TRAINS FOR POST Walter Hagen, Jr., son of the old golfing master, is in training for an officer's commission at Fort Knox.

Heavyweights Meet Tonight In Cleveland To Purchase "Bomber for MacArthur"

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, June 23.—The leather straining of various chins should be terrific tonight when the Cleveland News stages its "Bomber for MacArthur" nine-fight show in Cleveland stadium with Melio Bettina and Harry Bobo as the main heavyweight attraction.

Labeled the best fight card of the year, the promoters, Ed. Bang, News sports editor, and Larry Atkins, are figuring on a house of 25,000 with a gate ranging anywhere from $105,000 to $130,000.

Four other ten rounders besides the Bettina-Bobo melee are on the punch menu together with four five-rounders.

Indies-Elders Set For Clash Tonight

Crucial City League Setto Carded For Marshall Field Starting At 6 O'Clock

WEST PITTSBURG HOST TO MOOSE

Lawrence county's scorching City Baseball league first half race moves within the shadows of the finish line tonight.

The program is studied with crucial affairs which will make or break several of the title aspirants. Games start at six o'clock.

Marshall field, Scott street, grabs most of the spotlight in view of the fact that the Elders, leading the caravan by a half game, entertain the Lawrence Indies. In their last meeting, the Elders rang up a 6-3 triumph.

The Indies, which booted Bessemer out of the top post last Sunday, will take the field tonight determined to wreck the Elders' pennant hopes.

Bessemer's fiery aggregation figures to remain in the race by toppling the last place West Side Tigers on Bessemer high field. A Tiger victory, which isn't impossible by no means, would practically erase the Cementers' title dreams.

The surging Moose clubbers, lodged in second place, battle the West Pittsburgh "Gashouse Gang" on West Pittsburgh field. The Moose has nailed 11 wins against seven setbacks. If the Elders lose, the Moose can move into first by toppling the West Pittsburghers (6-7).

Croton's battle with the Slovaks, billed for Cedar street grounds, rounds out the card. The rivals have each dropped eight decisions.

The losing aggregation can say au revoir to its first half title hopes. The rivals are three games away from first, a lead which is extremely small in the league.

Still Fighting

Johnny Obeck

Although he started his boxing career in 1892 and has fought professionally for 31 years, Johnny Obeck of Philadelphia, above, is still going strong. To prove it, Obeck scheduled a 25-round bout with a series of sparring partners to celebrate his 65th birthday.

FAIR OR FOUL

By LAWTON CARVER

INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 23.—Joe Gordon, of the New York Yankees, and Bobby Doerr, of the Boston Red Sox, continue to breeze along in one of the greatest tussles for American League batting supremacy staged in recent seasons. The fact that they both are second basemen heightens the interest in their duel and brings up time and again that same old question as to which is the better all around man.

Off-hand I think Gordon has a good big edge, for he may be the greatest fielding second baseman of all times, regardless of how reluctant some of the past may be to admit it. I wouldn't know about some of those fellows of the old days that you hear so much about, but I do know that none of them could have covered more ground than Gordon without a horse or repeatedly come up with plays that only an acrobat could make. That's what he is—an acrobat—literally and actually, and it accounts for some of the things he does.

He was an all around athlete in his day at school and took part in tumbling among other things. Any way if you could buy either of the two and had the money with which to do it and figured that the best second baseman obtainable could win you a pennant, which would you take? That ought to answer it.

Gordon has hit as many as 30 home runs in a season for the Yanks and has never fallen below 20. Doerr has never hit more than 22, did that only once and that was the only time he topped 20 for a season. Also Gordon drives in considerably more runs year after year than Doerr, although at the moment the latter is in front in the power department both in homers and in runs batted in.

Yord, Gordon has quite a distinct edge at bat in that he is a more powerful hitter and that—besides his terrifically agile fielding—would be a great selling point in his behalf against the fine young guy from the Red Sox.

NYA Enrollment Tops All Records

Will Be 350 Next Week; Re-Tooling For War Production Finished

With the arrival of six youths from Oil City yesterday, and forty more from all over Western Pennsylvania today, the enrollment of the New Castle NYA Resident Work Center has reached just about 300. Director John C. Pella. He added that fifty more youths were expected toward the end of this week or the beginning of next week.

"When that fifty arrives," he said, "we will have the largest number of youths in training that we have ever had."

It was announced that the NYA camp had finished the job of re-tooling for a special war product and that it will be in production in the near future.

The tooling job had to be done entirely by the boys and girls at the camp and with the materials that were on hand. "We haven't bought a single thing," Pella said, a little proudly, "what we didn't have, we had to make. I give a great deal of credit to the youths and their instructors. We are ready for production in much less time than anyone had believed possible."

SOCIETY BUYS WAR STAMPS

The Hebrew Free Loan Society, which held its annual outing over the week end, has invested $315 in war bonds and stamps, according to President Morris Sigler. The organization gave war stamps as prizes in the athletic events at the picnic at Neshannock Falls.

Final Instalment Of Blackout Rules

Completing the blackout instructions issued by the Lawrence County Council of Defense, the following rules are published today as a guide to citizens, the last instalment of a series.

B2. Residential—Extinguish all lights, except for lights in a prepared "blackout room" which will not permit even a glow to the outside.

B3. Stores, theaters, apartments, hotels and public buildings—Extinguish all lights except those which will not permit even a glow to the outside.

B4. Factories and industrial buildings—Orders for the extinguishing or obscuring of lighting in industries engaged in production for the war or navy department will be issued by the army or navy. All other industries shall blackout as described in paragraph A4.

B5. Utilities, municipal services and hospitals—Utilities not capable of blackout without stopping operations will be excluded from participating in this total blackout. During this test, the utilities shall discover what measures are necessary to effect a complete blackout and be prepared to completely blackout on the next test.

Street lights, whether gas or electric, however, must either be completely extinguished or must be reduced to the minimum illumination approved by the war department. Hospitals shall comply with requirements under B2.

B6. Railroad, street car and interurban rail transportation—Railroads will be governed as in A5.

Street car and interurban rail transportation shall be stopped, all lights extinguished and the operation of these conveyances shall be conducted themselves according to the requirements of rule 11 of the State Council of Defense.

B7. Motor transportation—Traffic signals and other safety devices explained in paragraph A7 shall be dimmed or extinguished during the complete blackout. Two recommended methods of adapting traffic signals to meet the requirements are as follows: (a) Extinguish unnecessary signals. Two air raid wardens or other responsible persons shall be delegated to extinguish each unnecessary traffic signal.

within two minutes after the air raid warning.

Other exterior safety illumination, such as flashers, signs, panels, arrows, etc., shall be reduced so that the signal is not legible for more than one hundred (100) feet and is completely inconspicuous at two hundred fifty (250) feet.

Nothing in these instructions shall be construed to conflict with existing laws of the commonwealth of Pennsylvania pertaining to the operation of traffic devices during normal conditions.

Signs and markings normally dependent upon incident light from streets lights or vehicles may be prepared for blackout conditions by the addition of luminescent materials.

B8. Water transportation—The Office of Defense Transportation will issue the necessary instructions for blackout of water transportation facilities.

B9. Air transportation—Same as A9. For further information see Bulletin 105B of the State Council of Defense.

B10. General outdoor lighting—Shall be extinguished as in A10.

The above rules, regulations and orders are adopted and promulgated by the State Council of Defense pursuant to the authority vested in it by Section 3 (a) of Act No. 14, approved the 13th day of April, 1942, known as the Air Raid Precautions Act.

Attention is called to the fact that section 9 of said act provided that any person violating any of these rules, regulations and orders is, upon conviction thereof, subject to a fine and imprisonment.

During the one-half hour blackout period, these regulations pertaining to lighting regulations shall be enforced. During the balance of the night, while the partial blackout is in effect, the local officials shall warn violators of their failure to comply with these rules and regulations and institute prosecutions only against those who thereupon refuse or fail to co-operate.

(The end)

FIRST NAVAL ACADEMY WEDDING

McConnell's Mills Painting On Display

Given Much Praise

Washington street shoppers are stopping and looking at an unusual oil painting of McConnell's Mill presently being shown in Fisher Brothers' window. The scene was painted by Prof. George T. Miller, chairman of Shipper Rock State Teachers College for 14 years.

Prof. Miller shows an unusual view of the well-known beauty spot of Lawrence county. His picture looks up towards the white falls below the old covered bridge.

Seen at the top of the picture is just enough of the ancient and colorful bridge to frame the mill gracefully. In middle distance rush on its mud way the deep green and white of the river.

In the foreground, fishing is Old Mose, the ancient caretaker. Professor Miller said that Old Mose son of a Virginia slave and so old that he himself did not know his exact age, was so much a part of the mill that he could not be omitted.

Prof. Miller has made a hobby of painting old grist mills in Western Pennsylvania—he has done Christy's Mill, Croil's Mill and the Pigeon Forge Mill in addition to his latest, which by the way took two years to finish. He is anxious to find more such mills to paint and will welcome suggestions from the public.

Last year, Prof. Miller's "Rural Idylls" won first prize in the Butler county Associated Artists Exhibition.

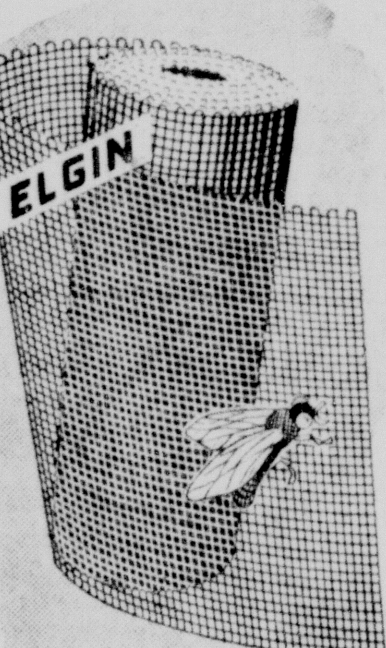

The McConnell's Mill scene will remain on display for the rest of the week.

Blackout Of Jameson Hospital Proves Big Task

Hospital Authorities Expect To Make Huge Building Oblivious From Outside

Blackout of the Jameson Memorial hospital, which functions 24 hours a day, ministering to human suffering, and which needs plenty of light for the delicate task of performing an operation, major or minor, or in taking care of the many patients housed in the institution, is proving a tremendous task, but the big building is expected to be absolutely black as far as the outside world is concerned on Thursday night, Dr. Wayne W. Bissell, medical director of the hospital, stated today.

Many permanent installations have already been made at the hospital in preparation for possible emergencies which might be caused by the war, and in addition a number of other installations are going in today, which will prevent any light from leaking out when the blackout signal is given.

Temporary shading is being put in place where lights are necessary, and in the corridors special light bulbs, which throw their light directly down onto the floor are being placed.

It will be necessary to keep the operating and delivery rooms functioning, and these are brilliantly lighted places, but the shading equipment which is being installed is expected to prevent any of this light from showing to possible enemies.

Major Foster Just Misses Chip Wedding

Maj. A. B. Foster, who seems to be greatly in demand at weddings lately, was nearly present at the marriage of Lieut. William C. Chip and Miss Jean Waddington, both of New Castle, which was at Annapolis, Md., last Friday, according to John B. Waddington, the bride's father.

Maj. Foster had a staff car ready to make the trip from Fort Meade to Annapolis but fell ill at the last minute and so was not present.

But Miss Patsy Chip was made a special army representative, said Mr. Waddington. "In Maj. Foster's absence and with the navy represented by Ensign Bissell and the marines by Lieut. Chip we had to work the army in. So Miss Patsy Chip was named."

Mr. Waddington also visited Charles May, a New Castle man at Fort Meade. May has been sick and Mr. Waddington reported that both he and Maj. Foster were recovering and would soon be about their duties.

Graham Presents Local Resolutions

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
(Special Washington Correspondent,
New Castle News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23—A number of resolutions from his district urging suppression of vice and liquor sales near Army and Navy centers have been presented to the House by Representative Louis E. Graham of Beaver.

The resolutions all urge passage of legislation, now awaiting Senate and House consideration, which would clean up conditions in the vicinity of cantonments. Signers of the resolutions include the following:

Fifteen members of the Lawrence County Christian Endeavor Union; 78 members of the First Methodist church of Ellwood City; 54 members of the Free Methodist church of Ellwood City; and 60 citizens of Franklin Township.

Stickers Available For Marine Parents

All parents with sons in the United States Marine Corps may have stickers signifying this for house or car windows. Staff Sergeant John L. Dean, officer-in-charge of the Marine recruiting station on the second floor of the Post Office announced today.

"The stickers just came through from Washington," the sergeant said, "and they are good-looking patriotic symbols in honor of your boys serving his country in the Marine Corps."

Dean also announced that recruiting is going on to a record high though he cannot send anybody in to training camp for the rest of the month because of overcrowded conditions.

Some subjects are dynamite. If you write, "Members of the (censored) race are fine people," some crank will reply: "I resent your dirty sarcasm."

New Castlite Speeds Navy Transportation

Among the New Castle men and women who are making a very substantial contribution to the nation's war effort is Lieutenant Robert E. Funkhouser who is known as "the brains of the Navy transportation service" in Washington.

In addition to his Navy work, Lieut. Funkhouser is an active air raid warden and an assistant security officer for the Secretary of the Navy.

Lieut. Funkhouser, who is married and has a five-year-old son, had been a transportation executive for ten years in New York City before the Navy called him to reorganize and streamline Naval transportation.

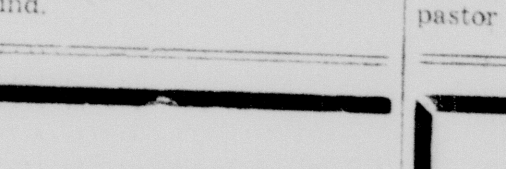

Lieut. Funkhouser was born in New Castle in 1909 and graduated from the New Castle High School.

The people are not stupid. Millions protested when every goddola car was filled with scrap metal headed for Japan. Only officialdom was blind.
